GURU V. MYDHILI

Guru Smt. V. Mydhili started Midhilalaya Dance Academy, Thiruvananthapuram in 1984. She is one of the most respected teachers in Bharatanatyam and has made a mark of her own as an excellent teacher and also as an outstanding choreographer. Through the medium of dance, Guru Mydhili portrayed socially relevant issues, which were well received by the public. Her latest production 'Kalpatharu' once again underscores the many facets of this eminent artiste. As a dance teacher, she is devoted to traditions, which eventually benefited her students. She was honoured with the 'Kaisi Puraskar' in 2002 by the Kerala Sangeetha Nataka Academy.

Annie Johnson

An ardent desciple of guru V. Mydhili she has been gaining attention as a serious performer of Bharatanatyam. Her performances are backed by tremendous commitment and dedication to the art form. A sensible interpreter of Bharathanatyam. Annie's flair for dance forms also led her to Nangyarkoothu and Koodiyattom, which she got trained under Natyakalarathnam Margi Sathi.

Now she is working as a Programme Assistant at Vyloppilly Samskrithi Bhavan, a cultural organisation under Government of Kerala. Annie stands out as an artiste to watch out for in the coming days

Sindhu Raghavan

The mettle of an artist is proven in terms of her mastery over the art and the commitment to every aspect of the genre. And these are the highlights if one gets to see Sindhu Raghavan angle herself in rhythm to the mellifluous musical accompaniment. Enchanting is her expression while she emotes a 'bhava' evoking an array of emotions in the spectator. She is Born to Sri.Raghavan M.V. and Smt.Vilasini Menon in Thrissur. Her devotion to Bharathanatyam has directed her to dance maestro V.Mydhili, whose rigorous and innovative practice sessions made her explore realms of the dance from hitherto unknown. Her heart brims when she wears her anklets for the arangettam. Your heart would also overflow when you witness her grace and elegance in her worship of Lord Nataraja. She is a part of Rajadhani family (Rajadhani Group of Institutions) as a personal assistant to the Managing Director Dr.Biju Ramesh.
